

Case 14 – Oesophagus, Hard

Diagnosis – Feline oesophagus

The term feline oesophagus is used to describe this appearance and is thought to occur when there is contraction of the muscularis mucosa. It is non-specific but may be seen more commonly in patients with gastro-oesophageal reflux disease.