

Case 19 – GOJ, Hard

Diagnosis – Slipped gastric band

In patients with swallowing problems after laparoscopic adjustable gastric band placement, assessment of the control image is crucial. The Phi angle (measured) should be between 4 and 58 degrees. If it lies outside this range then slippage is very likely. Urgent surgical attention is indicated if so.